

Society Members Attend Lufkin Workshop

A group from the Walker County Genealogical Society had a lovely trip to Lufkin Saturday to attend the workshop on genealogy at Hotel Angelina.

They traveled in the motor home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rush Stewart.

Those making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. McClintock, Mrs. Eugene M. Addison, Mrs. H.L. Costlow, Mrs. C.R. Hackney, Mrs. T.E. Humphrey, Mrs. Joe Malak, Jr., Mrs. Brady McCulloch, Mrs. R.E. Samuel, Mrs. Malvin Stewart, and Mrs. and Mrs. John Y. Morgan.

Among the large crowd attending the all-day meeting were visitors from Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Georgia.

Featured speaker at both the morning and afternoon sessions was Mrs. Mary B. Warren of Danielsville, Georgia, who discussed research in Georgia and the Carolinas.

A noted genealogical editor and author, Mrs. Warren used slides in her unusually informative and interesting presentation. She gave numerous facts about a great variety of research material that may be helpful to those interested in genealogy, and answered many questions.

The workshop participants enjoyed the well planned sessions, the friendliness of the people, and the delicious luncheon served in the hotel dining room at the noon hour.

Several of the Huntsville group were among the many winners of door prizes. There was time during intermissions for visits to the Lufkin Genealogical and Historical Society's library.
